Welcome to Berkshire Grown's 2017 Guide to Local Food & Farms!

It's the region's best guide to farms, farmers markets, shops and restaurants that offer local foods. Find Pick-Your-Own (PYO) blueberries, raspberries, apples and pumpkins in season, and the farmers markets nearest to you. You can also use our searchable online map to find links to those growing, selling, and serving local food at berkshiregrown.org.

I hope you will use this Guide frequently. Each time you buy directly from a farmer, you keep your dollars in our local communities and enjoy the freshest, most delicious local food and farm products.

Enjoy what's special in each season!

Guide to Local Food & Farms 2017

Why eat local?

You care about your HEALTH

- Local food is fresher and tastes better than food shipped long distances from far states and other countries.
- Knowing where your food comes from and how it is grown or raised enables you to choose safe food from farmers you trust.
- Buying local food gets you outside and keeps you in touch with your neighbors, the seasons, and the harvest.

You care about the ENVIRONMENT

- Local food travels less!
The average supermarket vegetable travels 1500+ miles from farm to table.
- Local farmers offer crop varieties grown for taste and freshness rather than shipping and long shelf life.
- Local farms help to establish and maintain healthy soils through sustainable farming practices such as crop rotation, diverse crop varieties, pasture raised livestock and integrated pest management (IPM).

You care about the COMMUNITY

With each local food purchase, you ensure that more of your money spent on food goes to the farmer and, in turn, the local economy.
